

Turning the Page

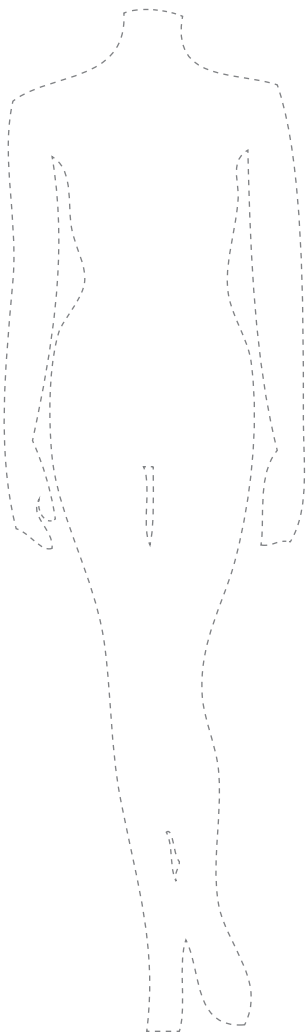

Fashion on the land

The Faithfull family collection at the National Museum of Australia has some examples of the dresses worn on Springfield Station in the nineteenth century.

Draw the two-piece satin dress featured online in the Faithfull family collection. Use the space around your drawing to make notes about how practical the dress was, the fabric used and so on.

Draw your idea of what women wear on the land these days, once again making notes around your drawing in regard to practicality, fabric and changes in fashion trends.

