

National Museum of Australia Media

Caption:

Aerial view of the National Museum of Australia on Acton Peninsula, Canberra

Conditions of use for downloadable images

These images are provided to media organisations via this website solely to publicise the activities of the National Museum of Australia.

The images may not be reproduced for commercial purposes or on sold to third parties.

All images must be acknowledged as specified.

Images may not be cropped, altered or overlaid without the permission of the National Museum of Australia.

All images remain in copyright. The National Museum of Australia may or may not own the copyright for individual images. Those images whose copyright is not owned by National Museum of Australia have been licenced by National Museum of Australia for the sole purpose of publicising the activities of the National Museum of Australia.

Some of the images may have associations with deceased indigenous Australians. Please be aware that some images may cause sadness or distress in Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander communities.

For questions relating to the conditions of use for the images please contact the National Museum of Australia Copyright and Production Services at image@nma.gov.au.