Lake Tyers
Aborigines

SIR—FOR ONE WHO
purports to put forward the interests of the issues involved in the controversy, Stuart Sayes shows a bias towards attacking the management of the "colonial" station, rather than contact, or knowledge of, the aboriginal point of view.
I offer comment on two points in his letter. He writes:
"Of its kind the so-called Lake Tyers is good;..."
I consider the facilities available to Lake Tyers is comfortabe, easily seen.
The three-roomed cot-
tar, for instance, the bathroom, laundry and run-ing water: provide a home for the "colonial" events of domestic life, particularly cooking for families in the past, young couples
"remained" in Lake Tyers?
The Aborigines Welfare
Board, in country centres,
some isolated from others, with no hope for the improvement. Pastor Nicholls' action in giving new life to the
"remained" in Lake Tyers?
With no chance to accept homes in the out-country, they were forced to choose to put up with their condition. The question is whether they will accept a stake in their own development?

Cost of Station

(23) Mr. Sayes writes:
"This station now costs the State £6 per annum. For something like that amount, Victoria is maintaining a permanent establishment in complete isolation from the white community."
Such expenditure for a percent of the management, not essential for the white people, regardless of the facts. The statement ignored the fact that Lake Tyers was given to the Aborigines as a co-operative. The Aborigines were responsible for the management and for the development of Lake Tyers.
They were not forced to be idle. The station provided an opportunity for them to work. It was not given to them as a "gift".

Conclusion

The writer is not satisfied with the current situation
in Lake Tyers. The writer believes that the Aborigines are being exploited. The writer is appealing to the government to take action in order to improve the situation.

Editor, "The Age"

Note: The writer refers to the
"sentiment" of the Aborigines in Lake Tyers. The writer is not satisfied with the current situation and believes that the government should take action to improve it.

---

Lake Tyers
Aborigines

SIR—FOR ONE WHO
purports to put forward
the interests of the issues
involved in the controversy,
Stuart Sayes shows a bias towards
attacking the management of
the "colonial" station, rather
than contact, or knowledge
of, the aboriginal point of
view.
I offer comment on two points in his letter. He writes:
"Of its kind the so-called Lake Tyers is good;..."
I consider the facilities
available to Lake Tyers is comfortabe, easily seen.
The three-roomed cot-
tar, for instance, the bathroom, laundry and run-
ing water: provide a home for the "colonial"
events of domestic life, particularly cooking for families
in the past, young couples
"remained" in Lake Tyers?
The Aborigines Welfare
Board, in country centres,
some isolated from others,
with no hope for the
improvement. Pastor Nicholls' action
in giving new life to the
"remained" in Lake Tyers?
With no chance to accept homes in the out-
country, they were forced
to choose to put up with their
condition. The question is
whether they will accept a stake
in their own development?

Cost of Station

(23) Mr. Sayes writes:
"This station now costs the State £6 per annum. For something like that amount,
Victoria is maintaining a
permanent establishment
in complete isolation from
the white community."
Such expenditure for a percent of the management,
not essential for the white
people, regardless of the
facts. The statement ignored
the fact that Lake Tyers was
given to the Aborigines as a
co-operative. The Aborigines
were responsible for the management and for the development of Lake Tyers.
They were not forced to
be idle. The station provided
an opportunity for them to work. It was not given to them as a "gift".

Conclusion

The writer is not satisfied
with the current situation
in Lake Tyers. The writer
believes that the Aborigines
are being exploited. The
writer is appealing to the
government to take action
in order to improve the situation.

Editor, "The Age"

Note: The writer refers to the
"sentiment" of the Aborigines
in Lake Tyers. The writer is
not satisfied with the current
situation and believes that
the government should take action to improve it.